Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objectives and Strategies

Investment Objectives

The Fund seeks long-term capital growth by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of equity securities of Canadian resource companies.

Investment Strategies

In order to achieve the Fund's objective, investments are made based on analysis of financial information of each potential investment to identify under-valued companies with improving fundamentals and high potential for price appreciation. The Fund tends to overweight exposure to industry sectors that demonstrate the strongest potential without exposing the Fund to unreasonable levels of risk. The Fund may invest up to 49% of the Fund's net assets in foreign securities and may purchase derivatives, invest in other mutual funds and enter into securities lending transactions.

Risk

There are risks associated with investing in the Fund. There have been no changes to the Fund which affected the risks associated with investing in the Fund during the year. Specific risk information can be found in the Fund's prospectus available through our website at www.marquest.ca or at SEDAR's website www.sedar.com.

Results of Operations

As at December 31, 2016, the Fund's total NAV was $2,946,470, an increase of 7.90% since the prior year end (December 2015: $2,730,643). This change is primarily due to net appreciation on investments of $2,145,241, partially offset by net realized loss on sale of investments of $1,033,632, management fees of $41,813, transaction costs of $70,858 and net redemptions of $779,330.

The Marquest Canadian Resource Fund Class A gained 36.7% for the year ended December 31, 2016. This is compared to the S&P/TSX Composite Index which gained 17.5% and the S&P/TSX Materials Capped Index and the S&P/TSX Energy Capped Index which had gains of 39.0 and 31.2% respectively. The Fund's strong results' was due to its focus on the mining sector for the majority of the year.

The Portfolio Manager believes the mining sector is in the early stages of a recovery which will be driven by improved commodity prices, an expansion of demand and relatively cheap valuations of mining stocks. The improvement in both pricing and volumes will have a significant impact on the profit margins of the industry due to the rationalization of costs undertaken by the industry over the past five years.

MARQUEST CANADIAN RESOURCE FUND

ANNUAL MANAGEMENT REPORT OF FUND PERFORMANCE | For the Year Ended December 31, 2016

Commodity prices had been under pressure from 2011 to 2016 due in the portfolio manager's view, from excess inventories created by the massive investment in the commodity industries between 2004 and 2010. In the past five years inventories have been worked down due to a combination of industry restructuring, a reduction in production of marginal mines and a significant slowing of investment in the mining industry. The supply/demand balance is critical to the outlook of metal prices. Copper for example has recently moved into a deficit position at the same time that production has declined due in part to a decline in capital spending. The Portfolio Manager believes that the improved outlook for global economic growth will support higher base metal prices. As at year end the Fund held 31% of the portfolio in base metal companies.

The energy sector is also in the early stages of a recovery. The challenge for the oil sector is the ability of producers to increase production as pricing improves which will likely limit the upside potential for the oil price. Our strategy has been to focus on the oil and gas service sector which has significant operating leverage to any increase in production activity.

Recent Developments

2016 was a turning point for the economy as global growth reaccelerated in mid-year. This improvement in economic growth has had a significant impact on the capital markets. Interest rates turned up in the second half of the year as witnessed by the 84 bp increase in US 10 Year Treasury yields in the fourth quarter closing the year at 2.27%. The improved economic outlook and the strong employment conditions have given a green light to monetary authorities to finally begin normalizing monetary policy by increasing interest rates. We expect to see a series of rate hikes over the next year. The rising interest rate environment will be a challenge for bond investors.

The stronger economy will cause a significant shift in relative corporate earnings performance. The cyclical sectors which have been under pressure over the past few years due to slow growth and weak pricing will now have the benefit of stronger pricing and increasing volumes. Given the rising rate environment equity markets will be more challenging from a valuation standpoint as rising interest rates will put pressure on valuations. Therefore, superior performance in equities will depend on an improving earnings outlook. The cyclical sectors have outperformed the overall market in 2016 reflecting both the improved earnings outlook for cyclical stocks and their depressed relative valuations. We expect the cyclical sectors to continue to outperform over the next year.

The shift in the investment environment from slow growth/low interest rates to rising rates and stronger cyclical earnings will cause a significant shift in asset allocation from bonds to equities. In addition, within the equity market investors are expected to focus on the sectors with the strongest earnings outlook. We are now in the late stages of the economic cycle where interest rates rise, employment is strong, commodity prices are firm and cyclical sectors outperform. Stock selection will be a key to performance in the next year as well as smaller cap stocks tend to outperform in late cycle environments.

⁽²⁾ Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

⁽³⁾ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period.

⁽⁴⁾ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.

⁽⁵⁾ Waivers and absorption of certain expenses associated with the Fund are at the Manager's discretion and may be terminated at any time.

*Class A units were first issued on June 24, 2002.

Class F units were first issued on February 7, 2006.

Management Fees

The Management fees for each applicable class are calculated daily and are based on the Fund's ending total NAV per class; cumulative daily totals are then paid on a weekly basis. Past Performance

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the years shown were reinvested in additional securities of the Fund. The performance information does not take into account sales, redemptions, distributions or other optional charges that would have reduced returns or performance. How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future. Performance differences between classes of units are mainly attributable to management fees charged to each class.

Annual Compound Returns

The table below compares the annual compounded return of the Class A and F units of the Fund against the S&P/TSX Capped Materials Index. This new index has been selected as the best comparative index as a result based on a review of the types of portfolio assets and similarities between the index and the fund. The S&P/TSX Capped Materials Index is a modified cap-weighted index, whose equity weights are capped at 25%. This index's constituents are derived from a subset stock pool of S&P/TSX Composite Index stocks. For performance purposes, the index assumes the reinvestment of all dividends.

As the index is made up of a group of securities from various resource asset classes and market capitalizations, it does not share the same holdings or the same weighted proportions as the Fund and compounded total returns between the two may differ. For greater in-depth discussion regarding the Fund's asset class holdings and performance over the year please see the "Results of Operations – Investment Portfolio" section of the MRFP.
